Dear Jim,

You did a great job last night for the C.E.R.T.S meeting. You kept everyone's attention and interest for the whole 2.5 hours. You made participation seem like fun and found no dumb questions, finding some praise for each question or answer someone gave you.

It was a well prepared class and I could tell the work and energy it took to give the class. I learned many things especially about heat and fire at the door and the 6 sides to a room. I have a question I missed but I think I remember that the X on the door and... I think, when it is boxed off it means don't go in there (toxic) or something. Did see a no left turn sign on my way home and it had a mark from top left to right bottom. Doesn't mean the same thing I guess.

Having the background of a teacher I found you used every teaching aid known. Great job and I appreciated it.

I will see you Tuesday at 4:30 and I hope you will be a loser. Weight Watchers.

By the way, you aren't very easy to find through Google or I didn't have the right name.

Sincerely,
